

1.

Woman: Are you glad you came to Washington?

Man: Yes, indeed. I'd considered going to New York Or Boston, but I've never regretted my decision.

Where does the man live?

2.

Man: Something is wrong with second gear. It seems to run fine in reverse, and drive, but when I shift into second, the motor stalls out.

Woman: I hope that won't be too difficult to fix.

Which gear needs to be fixed?

3.

Woman: I thought you said it was five cents a copy.

Man: I did, but it's ten cents a copy when you make fewer than twenty copies, and you have only fifteen.

How much per copy will the woman pay?

4.

Woman: How much to send a one page fax?

Man: One dollar. Oh, wait a minute. This is an overseas transmission. That's two-fifty.

How much will the woman pay?

5.

Woman: Are you worried about getting a job after graduation?

Man: No. I've had several good interviews, and I can always work for my dad for a while.

How does the man feel?

6.

Woman: That was a great movie?

Man: Sure, if you like fairy tales.

How did the man feel about the movie?

7.

Man: Did you get your TOEFL scores yet?

Woman: Not yet, but I think I got more than 500. I had 490 the first time I took it, and I know I did much better this time because I knew a lot about several of the reading comprehension passages.

How does the woman feel about the TOEFL?

