Conversations: Take turns reading and answering questions

A: Tonight I am going to catch a game at the new stadium.

B: I'm going too. We should go together. I've heard there isn't much parking.

A: That's right. They are building a parking garage next door. But it isn't finished yet.

1.Where are they going?

2.Why are they going together?

3.What is being built next door to the stadium?

C: My husband got a job at the factory. He is operating machinery. I worry he will get hurt. But the wages are very good.

D: I know you worry about him getting hurt. I would, too. But he is lucky to be making good money. My husband works at the supermarket. They only pay minimum wage. He has a second job working nights at the theatre. If he didn't work two jobs we couldn't make ends meet.

1.Where does C's husband work?

2.Why does she worry?

3.Where does D's husband work?

4.Why does D's husband work two jobs?

5.Have you ever worked two jobs to make ends meet?
