

Teacher: Read and discuss the commands on the back side. Have the students read the sentence. Correct pronunciation. Have students stand in a circle. Call out a command and ask them to act it out.

Name things you can measure: _____.

Name people you call: _____.

Name things you brush: _____.

Fill in the blanks:

_____ the form.	_____ around
_____ your finger.	_____ your teeth.
_____ your mother.	_____ the phone.
_____ this way.	_____ the items.
_____ the answer.	_____ your eyes
_____ the children.	_____ the street.
_____ your hair.	_____ the cup.
_____ the ball.	_____ the mistake.
_____ the letter.	_____ the sentences.

Six verbs begin with C. Most of them have the “k” sound. Examples: close, call, cross, correct, comb. Pronounce these words. One has the “s” sound. Example: circle Circle the words in this list that begin with the “k” sound. Underline the words that begin with the “s” sound. Then pronounce all the words.

city catch cent cut cash cool car cost come can center

Read these conversations with a partner. Try to answer the questions. Then do them together as a class.

Tim: I need a new suit.

Tailor: I will make you a suit. First, I must measure you. Turn around. I will measure your back.

Tim: Will you measure my arms?

Tailor: Yes. I will measure your back, shoulder and arms. Then I will measure your waist and legs. I will make the suit.

Tim: Then you will call me. I will try the suit on.

Tailor: Yes. That’s right.

What does Tim need? Why does the tailor say, “turn around”. What does Tim ask? Who will make the suit? Will Tim try the suit on?

Sara: I need to go to work. Please watch the children.

Jan: I will watch them.

Sara: Children, Jan will watch you. Play in the house. Do not cross the street. I will call later.

Jan: We will be OK. Don’t worry.

What does Sara need to do? What will Jan do? What commands does Sara give? Who will call later? What does Jan say?

Teacher: There is a test today. Take out your pencil. Take out your paper. Write your name on the paper. Answer all the questions. Raise your hand when you finish.

Student: I answered all the questions, but I made many mistakes.

When is the test? What commands does the teacher give? When should the students raise their hands?

