

Look at the vocabulary on OPD page 76 and discuss any words you don't know. Tell the difference between boiling and broiling. Tell the difference between baking and roasting. Discuss the six ways to prepare eggs. Which is your favorite way to eat eggs? Do people in your culture eat eggs for breakfast? Most Americans eat chicken eggs, but some countries eat duck eggs or quail eggs. What kind of eggs do people eat in your country?

Read these sentences and tell what they mean.

1. Sally was a gourmet cook when she married Ron, but Ron is a meat and potatoes kind of guy. Sally gets frustrated trying to get him to eat more exotic foods.
2. I know how Sally feels. I eat health food and my husband is a fast food junkie.
3. Jim loves fresh baked rolls, but if they aren't refrigerated, they get stale very fast.
4. My brother works in the local food bank once a week. They serve food to people that are on food stamps.
5. Mom gave me a lot of food for thought in our conversation yesterday. I'm going to seriously consider doing what she recommended.
6. The menu was very expensive and everything was a la carte. You had to order appetizers, entrees and salads separately.
7. Mary likes to watch her weight, but her husband loves all you can eat restaurants. They go to the Chinese buffet every weekend.
8. Would you prefer a booth or a table? We'll sit in the booth. Can you bring a booster seat and a high chair?
9. Are the chicken tenders breaded?
10. Would you ask the busboy to clear our table please?
11. Would you like a glass of wine or a cocktail? I don't like mixed drinks. I'll have a glass of wine, please. And bring my wife a whiskey on the rocks.
12. I'm sorry, but there are no condiments on the table. Could you bring us salt and pepper and some hot sauce please.
13. The first glass of wine is complimentary tonight. And we have free refills on the sodas.
14. What type of dressing would you like on your salad?
15. Can I make a reservation for tonight? Yes, how many are in your party?
16. May I substitute onion rings for fries?
17. I'm here to pick up a to go order.
18. You clean off the countertop and clean out the pantry. What is the difference in meaning of the two phrases?

Idioms with CLEAN: Read these example sentences on the left side of the table, then match them with the definition on the right.

John can go back to work now. The doctors gave him a clean bill of health. Of the thirty countries inspected for airline safety only seventeen received a clean bill of health.	have no feelings of guilt or remorse over something
--	--

I didn't cause the old lady to fall. My conscience is clean ! Some people think I should have treated him better, but I have a clean conscience . I did everything I could for him.	to start fresh, past deeds will not be considered
After the police read him his rights he came clean about his part in the robbery.	improve behavior and start acting better
I want this floor squeaky clean when you finish mopping.	to examine someone or something and state that they/ it is/are healthy or in good condition.
Joe got into lots of trouble while in high school, but he has cleaned up his act since graduating. He's never in trouble these days.	to admit guilt
My daughters new boyfriend is very nice. He is a clean-cut young man.	get all your money or possessions
Tom, I don't care about what you did in the past. That's over. Today you start with a clean slate .	very, very clean
My house was burglarized last week. They really cleaned us out .	with no facial hair like beards or mustaches
Be sure you show up for the job interview clean-shaven .	someone (usually refers to a male), who is neatly groomed, with short hair
My ex-husband wants to continue to see me as a friend, but I think it's best if we make a clean break with the past and move on to new relationships.	remove from a situation or relationship with no intention of returning

Discussion Questions:

1. Do you ever have a guilty conscience about the way you have treated your parents or your kids?
2. Name something you have cleaned out lately. Do you enjoy cleaning out and organizing your possessions?
3. Have you ever been cleaned out by a burglar? Do you worry about burglary?
4. How much do you usually tip at a restaurant? How does this compare with tips in your country?
5. Should you tip everyone that provides a service? Have you ever worked for tips before?
6. Do you have food banks in your country? How about food stamps? Who helps people who cannot afford to buy food? Do people ever beg for food on the street?
7. Do you enjoy gourmet food or do you like to eat plainer food?
8. Are you into health food or are you a fast food junkie?
9. What is your main complaint about American restaurants?
10. Is it the style in your country to be clean-cut and clean-shaven?