

FUMC ESL 10-6-2025 High Beginning Lesson

USING PRESENT PERFECT TENSE: (have or has + past participle)

Finish these sentences. Keep the sentences short and simple.

1. I have washed...
2. She has finished...
3. They have learned...
4. We have lost ...
5. I have done...
6. He has been...
7. She has brought...
8. You have drawn...
9. Have you found...
10. Has he told...

USING PRESENT CONTINUOUS TENSE (is, am, are + ing verb)

They are going out. I am looking for my keys. It is raining now.
Bill is coming to the meeting. My father is building our house.

Finish these sentences:

1. I am writing ...
2. She is speaking...
3. They are riding...
4. We are coming...
5. You are eating...
6. Is she keeping...
7. Are they running...

Use the verb in parenthesis. Write a sentence using the present continuous tense (is, am, are + ing form of the verb) and a sentence using present perfect tense (have or has + past participle). The first one is done for you.

(catch) Jack is catching fish. He has caught two fish.

(teach)

(spend)

(sell)

Using JUST, ALREADY and YET

These words are adverbs of time. They tell when something happened.

EX: I just finished the test. This means you finished the test this moment.

I already finished the test. This means you finished it before now.

I haven't finished the test yet. This means you are still working on the test. You have not finished the test.

What is something you have just done? What is something you haven't done yet?

What is something you have already learned in English class?

Read these conversations:

Teacher: Have you finished the test yet?

Student: I just finished it. I will put the test on your desk.

Jan: Has Jack arrived yet?

Linda: Yes, he just arrived. He is getting out of his car.

Mom: Jack you must wash your clothes.

Jack: I have already washed my clothes.

Mom: Good boy!
